Marshal Radeliffe Arrives in Omaha with a Nervy Federal Prisoner. United States Marshal Radeliffe arrived in the city yesterday afternoon with G. M. White, alias Frank J. Steffens, who was arrested in Sidney, on Wednesday, on the charge of impersonating a government official. Steffens is said to have gone into the postoffice at Sidney, and after saying that he was a government postoffice inspec-tor, informed Postmaster Saunders that he had come to examine his accounts. The postmaster asked the man for his creden-tials and was told that he had left them at the hotel, and that he would bring them down in the afternoon. On investigation it was ascertained that Steffens was an imposter and Marsnai Radeliffe arrested him. He was given a preliminary hearing before Commissioner Neubauer, who held him for trial in the district court and fixed his bail Steffens halls from eastern Illinois and has an uncle living in Hastings. At the time of his arrest he claimed that poverty in-duced him to take the hazardous step which duced him to take the hazardous step which landed him within the hands of Uccle Sam s authorities. He expected to get the post-master to give him money upon the grounds of being a government officer Steffens was seen in the Douglas county fail last night, but he refused to talk to a reporter. He is an intelligent appearing young man, who takes his arrest philosophically and expects to get off with a light sentence.
